WRINKLE FILLER

Many injectable and non-injectable fillers are available on the market today.

Fillers are used to smoothen lines and wrinkles, and to fill depressed areas.

COLLAGEN is widely used. It requires pre-treatment testing to make sure the patient is not allergic. The body absorbs collagen in about six month to a year. It can be injected again and again. There is no significant side effect except an allergic reaction.

CYMETRA Another filler that needs no testing. The body absorbs it in about 6 month.

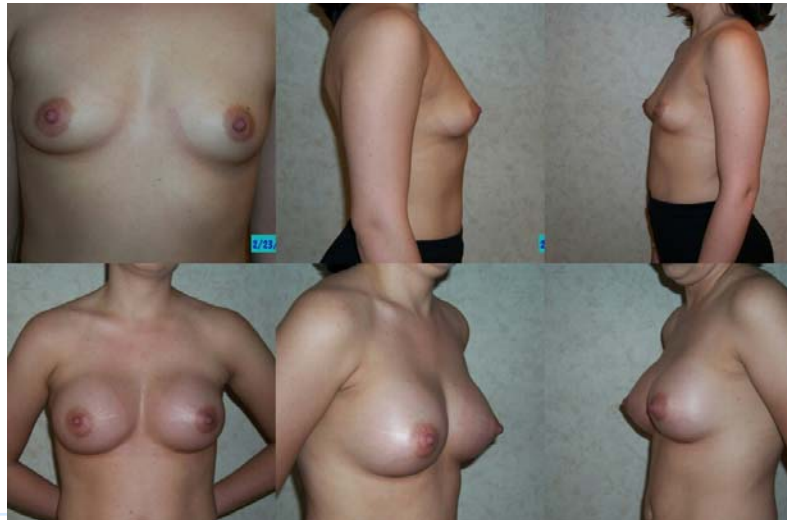

FAT that can be harvested by micro liposuction is injected to fill wrinkles or enhance features such as lips.

GORTEX a solid material introduced under deep wrinkles to fill and raise the area. It can be felt as a hard cord under the skin and especially in the lips. For that reason its use is not recommended.

Breast enhancement

These options are discussed at the time of the consultation. The ultimate shape of the augmented breast depends on the original shape of the breast, the shape and position of the implant. Breasts with preexisting droop may require a lift at the same time. Breast lift in combination with implant require less incision and scarring. In that case the scar is well hidden around the areola. Giving the breast a perky youthful appearance. The youthful breast is an important part of the body image.

RETIN-A-FACT AND MYTH

Long have been used for the treatment of acne, Retin A is the only medication on the market today to treat the aging skin.

Retin A acts first by peeling the outer layer of the skin. Its effect then extends to the deeper layer of the skin (Dermis). Repairing and restoring the collagen layer as well as the elastic layer of the skin. It is a true ANTI AGING medication. The function of restoration stimulates a reaction in the skin causing the redness and itching as well as the burning sensation. This is a desired effect and not a reaction. The strength and frequency of use is tailored to the patients needs, skin type and skin thickness. If the reaction is too much to tolerate, other medications can be used to help tone it down till the skin develop TOLERANCE. Retin A should be combined with other skin care program to achieve the BEST RESULTS.
